

Throngs To Attend Colorful Military Ball

News Briefs

Musser, Horticulture Speaker
The Clemson Horticultural Club met last Tuesday night. A. M. Musser, head of the Horticulture Department, spoke on "The Horticulture of Florida."

Mr. W. C. Curry will be the speaker at the next meeting on March 22.

Chaplin, Ashmore, Robertson
The Monday night Tiger News Clinic was conducted this week by George Chaplin and Harry Ashmore, respectively city editor and columnist for the Greenville Piedmont.

Ben M. Robertson, Jr., spoke at the February 28 clinic.

Company Has Bouts
Last week, through the efforts of Cadet First Sergeant Phil Troy, the Clemson Athletic Association donated two pairs of boxing gloves to Company C-2.

Cadets of that company have been "slugging it out ever since." The gloves are affording excellent recreation for the boys, and at the same time are promoting much needed company spirit.

With Department Again
Mrs. Sue C. Patterson of Seneca is working temporarily with the Clemson department of agricultural economics.

She was secretary in the department for nine years before resigning her position last summer.

Alpha Zeta Meets
Alpha Zeta met at Dr. G. M. Armstrong's home last Thursday night.

Talks were given by J. F. Brailsford, H. M. Covington, and C. C. Miley, their respective subjects being Phytohormones, Hydroponics, and Preserving Fruits and Vegetables by Artificial Refrigeration. Plans were discussed for a banquet in the spring.

Derrel Daniel Here
Derrel M. Daniel of the experiment station at Geneva, New York, visited the Clemson campus last week.

Mr. Daniel, who graduated from Clemson in 1895, took advantage of a leave of absence to come here to look over the campus and to visit some of his old friends.

Writers To Banquet
Gamma Alpha Mu will hold its annual banquet on Thursday night, March 17, in the college mess hall it was announced by Tom Lawton, president.

A number of distinguished guests will be present.

Students Present Problems Before Faculty Group

Yesterday for the first time in the history of Clemson, a student group participated and had charge of the program in a faculty meeting.

Solutions to the problems presented at this meeting will be given at the next faculty meeting by Professors W. W. Klugh, D. B. Rosenkrans, F. H. H. Calhoun, and Major G. L. Ramsey.

The speakers and their themes were: A. E. Stalvey, "Orientation"; E. C. Ray, "Cheating"; E. H. Smith, "Grades and Grading Systems"; A. C. Payne, "Faculty-student Cooperation"; and J. C. Wilkinson, "Student Problems."

Professor B. E. Goodale was chairman of the faculty program committees, while cadet J. C. Wilkinson held the same position on the student committee.

Hutchinson To Head YMCA

Columbian Selected As Y President

Donald M. Hutchinson of Columbia was elected president of the Y.M.C.A. at the open meeting held in the Y auditorium Sunday. Charles M. Aull of Newberry and T. B. Young of Florence were respectively elected vice president and recording secretary at this meeting.

The new officers whose powers become effective next year will be installed May 1.

The officers-elect are all prominent juniors. Hutchinson is a first sergeant, member of Tiger Brotherhood, and Y cabinet. Aull is an honor student in the agricultural economics department, a sergeant, and a member of the junior Y council and cabinet. Young is an executive staff member of the Tiger and a varsity swimmer.

Major S. M. Martin, Mr. J. C. Littlejohn, and Mr. B. O. Williams were elected for the three year term while Mr. T. B. Young of Florence and Mr. John A. Henry of Greenville were added to the board for a one year period. Young and Henry are Clemson graduates, each having served in the Y cabinet during their cadet days.

Ag Ed. Bulletin Announced

Professor W. G. Crandall of the School of Vocational Education, announced recently that his department had published the first Agricultural Education bulletin for this year.

The publication has been a monthly bulletin for the past thirteen years; however, the present printing contains the first four numbers combined into a convenient handbook.

Some 10,000 copies have been printed and will be distributed to teachers and students throughout South Carolina.

Aull And Williams Placed On Committee

Dr. G. H. Aull and Professor B. O. Williams, respectively heads of the agricultural economics and rural sociology departments at Clemson, have been asked to serve on a research council to be sponsored by the South Carolina federation of Commerce, Agriculture, and Industry.

The council will hold an organizational meeting during the week of March 12, to map a program of research for the year.

Honorary Colonel To Be Chosen

By J. W. Owens

Clemson's annual Military Ball, one of the college's yearly social features, sponsored by the local chapter of the national military fraternity, Scabbard and Blade, will tomorrow night inaugurate a colorful series of spring dances and will be marked by several outstanding events.

Brigadier General James C. Dozier, State Adjutant General and head of the South Carolina National Guards, will be initiated into the Scabbard and Blade tomorrow afternoon as an honorary member. The cadet Corps will give a full-dress parade in his honor and he will be guest of Scabbard and Blade at their banquet and the dance.

Major and Mrs. Kirk of The Citadel will be on the campus visiting Major and Mrs. Walthour and will be guests of Scabbard and Blade.

One of the outstanding events of the occasion will be the selection of the honorary Cadet Colonel. The young lady who will serve in this esteemed capacity for the coming year will be chosen Friday night by a group of judges made up of: Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Walthour, Mrs. Dumas, Major Gammon, and Colonel Weeks.

After a very beautiful and impressive sabre ceremony Colonel Weeks will present the honorary Colonel with a handsome plaque given by Scabbard and Blade and bearing the seal of the fraternity.

Clemson Group Attends IRC Meet

Five students and a faculty member represented Clemson at the annual conference of the southeastern division of the International Relations Club at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., March 3-6.

President D. E. Hudgin of the Clemson club, faculty advisor Dr. S. J. L. Crouch, and members A. C. Crouch, J. C. Boesch, P. M. Mahon, and F. C. Mills attended.

D. E. Hudgin spoke on "Do economic sanctions mean war?" and other representatives from here took an active part in general discussion of the topics presented by delegates.

Bob Jones To Give Dramatic Interpretations

Bob Jones, Jr., renowned because of his clever interpretations of Shakespearean characters, will give a free performance on Tuesday, March 15, in the college Chapel.

A brilliant and dramatic program of great characters from Shakespeare, presented with authentic costumes and makeup, special stage setting and lighting effects will feature the program.

Mr. Jones, young and talented artist, has spent much time touring the country presenting his "Curtain Calls," and he has never failed to leave a brilliant and lasting impression upon his audiences.

Says Samuel A. Tannenbaum, secretary, The Shakespeare Association of America, "He is good to look at, speaks clearly, distinctly, and beautifully, reads his lines intelligently and understandingly, and has a sensitive appreciation of Shakespeare's poetry. He is a fine artist and undoubtedly delights his audiences."

McRea Presents Unique System For Prosperity

Hugh McRea, successful agriculturalist from Wilmington, N. C., presented his plan for bringing about prosperity to Southern farmers to a Clemson college committee Friday, March 4.

The plan, based on the fact that the South may have green fields the year round, deals with a highly publicized campaign for inducing Southern farmers to put more of their land to live stock. Mr. McRea has sponsored some successful colonization movements in and around Wilmington.

The committee appointed by Dr. Sikes to confer with Mr. McRea included Professors B. E. Goodale, J. P. LaMaster, and R. A. McGinty, vice director of the experiment station, and Mr. T. W. Morgan, assistant director of the extension service.

Theatre Guild To Present Comic Mystery Play

The Little Theatre Guild of Anderson will present "The Cat and the Canary," a comic mystery in three acts by John Willard, in the Clemson Chapel tonight at 8 p. m.

The two previous presentations in Anderson met with great success. "Professionally enacted," said one reliable drama critic.

The cast includes: Bill Saylor, Sarah Harris, Hiram Sandlin, Elsie Ligon, Gertrude Wallace, Harold Simpson, Louis Hagood, Helen Hall, Dunklin Sullivan, and Earl Jenkins.

George Aull, Jr., son of Prof. and Mrs. G. H. Aull, played two piano selections at the Crescent Music Club in Greenville last week.

Visit Magnolia Gardens

Mrs. A. B. Bryan, Mrs. S. R. Rhodes, Mrs. D. H. Henry and Mrs. Lee W. Milford went to Charleston last week to see the Magnolia Gardens.

Study Club

The Study Club met last Monday at the home of Mrs. J. E. Ward who presented a paper on John D. Rockefeller.

Visitor From Furman

Harold Simmons, of Furman University, visited the campus on Saturday, March 5, to arrange a date for the Glee Club to perform at Furman University on the evening of March 17.

Church Auxiliaries

The campus church auxiliaries met on March 14 at the following homes: Presbyterian Women's Auxiliary at Mrs. E. C. Turner's; the Episcopal Auxiliary at Mrs. E. B. Elmores; the Methodist Auxiliary at the Methodist church, Mrs. D. E. Barnett and Mrs. David Dunavan played duets for the occasion.

Tea For Ladies

Mrs. C. C. Newman, Sr., held a tea on Tuesday, March 1, in honor of Mrs. Sadie Lawton of Estill, mother of Mrs. J. L. Brock, and Mrs. Charles Perry, mother of Mrs. R. F. Walthour. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. C. C. Newman, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Sams and Mrs. J. E. Ward.

High School Ballet

A group of Clemson-Calhoun high school students, under the direction of Professor J. W. Rion, presented the ballet pantomime, Stravinsky's "Firebird" at a meeting of the School Improvement Association Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

Principal roles were taken by Grace Sherman, W. C. Evans, Jeannie Ferrier and Douglas Crouch. The chorus included Louis Freeman, Albert Meiburg, George Armstrong, David Barnett, Dick Crowther, Margaret Rentz, and Elizabeth Sharpe, Frances Goodwin, Carolyn Finley, Francis Hall, Margaret Crowther, Peg Williams, Dorothy Cook, Jane Edwards, Estercita Clark, Francis Musser, Janet Arndt, Marjorie Holtzendorff, Francis Forrier, Helen Evans, and Caroline Fulmer.

It was announced that since the presentation was so successful, it will be repeated before a Clemson audience in April. All of the costumes, scenery, and dances were created by students under the direction of Professor Rion.

Leaders Form Little Theatre Group

Students To Participate In Plays

A Little Theater movement was started here by 60 Clemson faculty members and campus residents last week.

From these 60, the following seven were chosen as a committee to carry on the work in the various departments: Prof. T. K. Fitzpatrick, Dr. J. E. Gates, Mr. and Mrs. George Field, Mrs. D. E. Barnett, Prof. R. L. Anderson, and Prof. J. P. Lucas. This committee is in charge of all work connected with the dramatic productions.

Three plays have been scheduled at the Parish Home on March 28. Rehearsals for them began Tuesday night.

Doin' It

The cast of the first play, a comedy entitled "Everybody's Doin' It," is made up entirely of ladies. They are Mrs. John Wiggington, Helen Morrison, Ruth Burress, Antionette Earle, Lucia Hudgens, Claudianna Evans, and Grace Sherman. This play will be directed by Dr. Gates and the property will be in charge of Mrs. A. G. Holmes.

Second Play

The second is a religious play, "The Cross," and will be directed by Mr. Field. Its cast is composed of Helen Morrison, Frank Morgan, Prof. B. B. Trawick, Margaret McGinty, and Joe Sherman.

A cast for the third play, a comedy-melodrama, "The Fatal Necklace," has not been chosen.

Cadets are invited to participate in all activities of the organization, it was announced by the committee.

East To Be Speaker At Dairy Club Meet

Dr. B. A. East, well known nutrition expert, will speak at the dairy building Friday, March 11, at seven o'clock p. m.

Dr. East is technical consultant for Vitex laboratories and has conducted extensive research about nutrition and milk's part in public health.

The Dairy Club procured his services as a speaker here, but their meeting will be open to all cadets that night, and all pre-med, pre-dental, and chemistry students are especially invited to attend.

If all the girls you would command Let Bailey & Kay give you a hand.

Sweeney Elected To Head AIEE

The local chapter of the American institute of Electrical Engineers elected its officers for the coming year at its regular meeting on March 3.

The men selected are: J. O. Sweeney of Anderson, chairman; Ben McLeod of Clio, Vice-chairman; and W. C. Seabrook of Hazleton, Penn., secretary and treasurer.

The meeting also featured a very interesting demonstration lecture by Dr. H. M. Brown, of the physics department. Dr. Brown's experiments served to explain the transmission and effect of different lengths of sound waves. They included recordings of the human voice with some of the harmonic waves removed, and projection of sound waves upon a visible screen.

Crandall To Texas

Professor W. G. Crandall, of the School of Vocational Education, announced recently that he had accepted an invitation to speak at a meeting of the Texas State Vocational Association to be held at Dallas, Texas, on March 24, 25, 26.

The meeting will be attended by teachers from all over the State of Texas, and Professor Crandall stated that he will address them on soil and moisture conservation.

Dr. Lynn Smith Visits Campus

Dr. T. Lynn Smith, head of the rural sociology department at Louisiana State University, visited Clemson on February 23 enroute to Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

He was shown over the campus by Professor B. O. Williams, head of the Rural Sociology Department.

Mr. Smith left about noon the next day with Mr. Williams for a short tour through the Northern part of the State before going on to Chapel Hill.

Coker Glee Club To Give Concert

The Coker college glee club, under the direction of Mr. Dwight Steere, will present a concert in the Clemson chapel Saturday evening at 7:30.

The program will include solos by Misses Jane Alcott, violinist; Wave Josey, soprano; and Nellie McMaster, pianist.

The club is on an extended tour and will be the guests of the Clemson glee club for the day.

To look your best at the Military Ball, Give Bailey & Kay a little call.

Campus Mourns Passing Of Freeman

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the Holy, Trinity Episcopal church for Benjamin Freeman, 55, who died at his home here Friday, after several years of declining health.

Services were conducted by Bishop Kirkman G. Finlay, of Columbia in association with Rev. Donald Veale.

Pallbearers were: D. B. Rosenkrans, Henry Goodman, Ben Robertson, J. T. Foy, J. L. Marshall, and C. O. Newman.

Mr. Freeman had been connected with the chemistry department for about 30 years. He was a graduate in the class of 1903.

Unusual Exhibits Planned For Engineers Day

Groups Work To Complete Projects

By Frank Mills

Over fifty major projects are definitely scheduled to appear on Architectural-Engineering Day March 18-20 and are near completion, executive chairman Nick King announced today.

All of the exhibits are being prepared solely by the students and will be operated by them. The various departments participating announce the following numbers of projects that they are certain to show: electrical engineers, fourteen; mechanical engineers, eighteen; civil engineers, nine; architects, six; chemical engineers, four.

Manufacturers Help

Besides these there will be several exhibits sent in by manufacturing concerns and government departments that use engineering equipment and principles. These, too, will be demonstrated by students.

This by no means constitutes the whole of the show. Many smaller projects and last-minute minor developments will be on display. Some of the other models and machines not listed above as certain to appear may be finished in time to be added to the list.

Open To Public

For three days the whole of the engineering school will be open to the public. Work will still go on in most departments and in some visitors will be especially invited to come and observe the type of work the class is doing. The machine shop is one of the mechanical laboratories that will sponsor special work for the progress exposition and Professor Freeman now plans to manufacture some steel paper weights, the whole process taking place before the public.

To Be Broadcast

Both Anderson and Greenville radio stations will broadcast from the exposition. A novel development that shows the extent to which students have developed the apparatus for the "Day" is that one of the coils built here has such a high current that radio stations refused to broadcast from here unless the coil is shut off, because it might damage their equipment.

Work can not begin on setting up the material for display until after next week for it would interfere with class and laboratory work. For that reason, it will be necessary to enlist a large body of capable and willing students in preparing for the show, about March 9, these men will help with decorating, moving lab equipment, setting up exhibits in attractive booths, and similar final details.

According to the department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology of South Carolina experiment stations, railway employees have filed more income tax returns in South Carolina than any other occupational group.

STUDENTS WAR ON SYPHILIS

Probably the most intelligent single group of individuals in this and other states are the college students. This group's superior training should make those composing it leaders in the campaigns to improve health conditions and eradicate disease.

At present the war on syphilis is in the fore. Medical authorities tell us that stark ignorance is the strongest ally of this disease. It is estimated that South Carolina has some 185,000 cases of syphilis, the vast majority of which are unknown to the diseased. Wasserman tests for syphilis are offered free of charge to the state's citizenry, yet many people refuse to be subjected to this proven test because "Oh, I haven't got syphilis. It's impossible for me to contract it."

This false impression that so many of us have is a barrier that must be overcome. We must come to realize that intercourse is only one of numerous ways in which the scourge can be contracted. No individual, it matters not how high his intelligence or his strata in society, is entirely immune to syphilis!

The Tiger urges the student bodies and publications of the seventeen major universities and colleges in South Carolina to cooperate as a body with the local, state, and national crusaders against syphilis. A concerted effort on the part of college students can do much towards stamping out the dread syphilis.

Clemson is ready to do its share.

THANK YOU, MR. MAYBANK

This week Mayor Burnet R. Maybank, of Charleston, graciously invited the Clemson College band to participate in the opening parade of the annual Azalea Festival in Charleston Friday, April 22.

Unfortunately, Taps Ball which has been scheduled for some time, interferes and the band's trip to Charleston has been called off for that date.

We understand that the festivities begin in Charleston Friday, 22, and lasts through Wednesday, 27. It is the Tiger's hope that the Azalea Festival arrangements committee will see fit to use the Clemson outfit during one of its many other affairs, from the 25th through the 27th.

Clemson College appreciates the importance of the annual Azalea Festival in knitting together a more compact South Carolina. The Tiger realizes that the Azalea Festival in Charleston has become a state institution, that is why it regrets that Clemson can not be represented under the present arrangements.

COLO. ST. COLLEGE, GREELEY, WHERE

A FORWARD STEP

Wednesday, March 5, was, in a measure, independence day for the students of Clemson College; for on that day, for the first time in the history of the school, members of the faculty let down the bars and permitted a group of students to conduct the program for the regular monthly faculty meeting.

Upon the invitation of the chairman of the faculty program committee, five students presented a brief summary of student problems. The five talks delivered by the students touched upon the subjects of orientation, entrance requirements and standards, cheating, grades and grading systems, faculty-student cooperation, and pertinent student problems.

Through further arrangements of the faculty chairman, a committee of faculty members was appointed to make an intensive study of problems brought before the meeting. At the next faculty meeting the problem will be reviewed and possible solutions proposed. The students bringing up the problems will again be in attendance.

The Tiger heartily endorses the movement and unhesitatingly labels it as one of the most progressive steps that could be taken to better faculty-student relations. We realize that on the first trial he students probably presented problems that the faculty has been attempting to cope with for years, but we feel that the fact that the problems were presented from the student angle gave them a new slant designed to stimulate new channels of thought.

At least, we are confident that, despite any mistakes they made, the students were sincere in their efforts, they made an honest effort to realize their responsibility and not to abuse their privilege; and that the faculty will not let them down by taking their problems lightly and passing them on without due consideration.

THOMAS G. CLEMSON DAY

Thomas G. Clemson died at Fort Hill April 6, 1888. Wednesday, April 6, of this year will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the college founder's death.

It seems appropriate that this should be a special day on the Clemson College calendar.

The Tiger suggests that the college administration join an appointed student committee in arranging appropriate ceremonies to be held April 6, which will be set aside as "Thomas G. Clemson day."

"The 'Fuzzy-Wuzzies' are natives of the Sudan, British Territory in Africa South of the Sahara Desert; they are so called because of their long, frizzled hair," Dr. Joshua Godbold of Yauma university, said, talking on African tribes.

Talk Of The Town

Military Ball

Once again the time has come when we have the freshman haul out our blouse, shine up the brass, sew on the buttons, etc. for us to trip over to the fieldhouse and see how it feels to wear a uniform to a strictly social gathering. We are waiting with baited breath to see who our next honorary colonel will be and our only regret is that the CDA didn't call a "boot" dance for Saturday afternoon.

— TALK OF THE TOWN —

Death on Wheels

As the days go by we become increasingly thankful for the fact that roller skates have metal wheels which make plenty of noise. During the past few weeks we have been at the mercy of the "road-hogs" who flash by on their eight wheeled chariots of death with a sneer on their face as if to say: what the h---, buddy, what are you doing on the sidewalk. We are pretty patient as a rule and we don't particularly object getting knocked sprawling by a skater who won't even slow up for us to get his license number, but we will get irked if they don't at least slow up and say: Pardon us. If the craze keeps up we are going to have to take to the trees and we are quite certain that if skates were noiseless the corps would be silently wiped out in a fortnight.

— TALK OF THE TOWN —

Trips

We are definitely certain that the only way for an organization to make any progress is for them to make certain that we have no connection with it whatsoever. Only last week, the glee club and IRC made trips to Coker and Vanderbilt. We are members of these worthy organizations for two years but the farthest we ever got with the glee club was Riggs field where we took part in a pageant and the only trip we took with the IRC boys was a jaunt to the fruitstand for an ice-cream party.

— TALK OF THE TOWN —

Privilege

Yesterday we had the privilege of witnessing what we humbly believe to be a great step forward in Clemson's faculty-student relationship policy. We had the pleasure of being one of the student group who had the opportunity of expressing student views and we were well pleased with the proceed-

Bengals Lose To Devils In Tourney Finals

Trailing The Tigers

BY BEN CANTEY

The Clemson Tigers wound up their winter sports program last week with one of the best records that Clemson has ever attained. The Bengal boxing team won the Southern Conference tournament held at College Park, Maryland, and on the next week-end, Coach Davis's basketball team upset all of the dope buckets by going to the finals in the conference tournament in Raleigh, losing a close game to the inspired Duke Blue Devils.

No one need get the idea that these teams were fighting and playing over their heads, for the records of the boxers and basketballers in their regular season are just as impressive as their showings in the conference. The basketball team won 14 games and lost 6, winning the state championship, while the boxers tied The Citadel for the state championship, winning 4 matches and losing only one.

It was with a great deal of pleasure that we noticed that Clemson placed two men, Ed Kitchens and Banks McFadden, on the all-tournament team picked by the coaches and officials at the basketball tournament. Banks McFadden, sensational sophomore center of the Bengal team, was the only man in the tournament to receive an unanimous vote for a place on the mythical team. Banks was also high scorer of the tournament with 44 points to his credit, nine points more than the second high man. Bob Cheves, stellar Clemson forward, received honorable mention on the all-conference team.

With the closing of the boxing and basketball seasons, the attention of all sport fans will be turned to baseball and track. Clemson's state championship track team lost several valuable men by graduation, but they still have a very strong team, while the diamond stars have nearly a complete team back from last year, and we are looking for great things from both of these teams this year.

Outplaying such stellar performers as Connie Mac Berry, N. C. State center, and towering Bob Spessard, 6' 7," Washington & Lee pivotman, Banks McFadden, the Great Falls greyhound, brought his first year of varsity basketball to a fitting close by winning a berth on the Southern Conference first team. In addition to winning a position on the all-star quint, Mac was high scorer for the tournament with a total of 44 points for three games.

McFadden Stars In Duke Tilt

By T. Richardson

Battling their way upward after being seeded fourth in pre-tourney ratings, Clemson's clawing basketballers dropped a hard fought struggle to a clicking Duke Blue Devil combine by a 40-30 count last Saturday night at Raleigh in the deciding game of the Southern Conference basketball tourney.

Drawn in the upper bracket with W & L, North Carolina, and Richmond, the Bengals came through in the toughest way to gain the final round. Richmond, the "dark horse," was conceded an even chance to down the Tigers on Thursday evening. But, playing bang up ball, Banks McFadden and his mates combined for a flashy 35-32 win, a goal and a foul shot in the last two minutes of play deciding the encounter. On the same evening, Washington and Lee, with Bob Spessard, gigantic center, leading the way, upset the top-seeded North Carolina White Phantoms decisively, 48-33. Knowing that the W & L clash was a tough one, the Tigers went to work with a vengeance Friday night to lead the Generals by 22-9 at the half. And, although they whittled that tremendous lead, the Generals never could overcome it, for the Bengal men pulled away safely whenever they were threatened. Immediately following their victory, the Clemson team watched Duke pound out a surprising 35-32 victory over Maryland's Old Liners to gain the other final berth.

Tigers Favorites

By Saturday night, the Tigers were slight favorites, because of their magnificent victory over Washington and Lee. The Blue Devils, nevertheless, were a team to be watched, and they proved this by rolling up a commanding 8-1 lead in the opening quarter, and by shoving this margin up to 20-11 at the halftime. The offensive play of Swindell, Devil forward, was the shining light, as he caged seemingly miraculous shots from all over the court. Closely guarded by two men, McFadden proved his outstanding ability by keeping the Tigers in the game again and again with his accurate eye.

The Devils started fast again in the second half and ran their lead to 31-15, before the Tigers really came to life. Kitchens, Cheves, and Flathman sank shots to put the Tiger men on a more even footing with their opponents. But the irresistible Swindell came back with three tremendous heaves and the count went to 36-24. MacFadden and Kitchens immediately retaliated with scores, but the game was nearly over. The last two minutes resolved themselves into a "never say die" attempt by the Tigers to knot the score, which ended at 40-30.

After the game, seven tournament coaches and three officials chose the annual all-tournament team. Recipients of first team honors were Kitchens and MacFadden, Tiger guard and center, respectively. MacFadden, placed at forward to make room for Spessard at center, was the only player to gain a unanimous vote, his nine ballots for forward and one for center shading Spessard's total by one point. "Banks" was also high scorer for the tourney with 44 points, nine more than Mouse Edwards, Duke star. Including tournament games, the Tiger team's record for the season's play was 17 games won and only 7 lost for a .708 percentage.

McFadden Leads Tiger Scorers

Clemson closed its regular basketball season by piling up a total of 814 points, 532 being scored in Southern Conference games. The season's record showed that Banks McFadden, sophomore center, had piled up a grand total of 263 points leading second place Ed Kitchens by 103 points. Bob Cheves was third with 153 points.

The season's record is as follows:

Player	FG	FG	TP
McFadden	109	45	263
Kitchens	63	34	160
Cheves	69	15	153
Magee	38	13	89
Bryce	31	15	77
Flathman	14	8	36
Moorman	3	7	13
Thomas	4	2	10
Jackson	3	0	6
Prause	3	0	6
Johnson	0	1	1

Rifle Teams To Fire Here

Two ten-man rifle teams from The Citadel and the Charleston Marine Base will fire against the Clemson marksmen Saturday afternoon at 2:00 P. M. in a three-way shoulder-to-shoulder match on the home range.

This is one of the major matches of the season.

Acquabats Win State Title In Meet

Clemson's varsity and freshman swimming teams very decisively won the state titles yesterday in the local pool. The Tiger aquabats had very little trouble in besting the P. C. swimmers who came second in the scoring.

Fernow Paintings On Exhibit In Aiken

By request, Mrs. B. E. Fernow of Clemson is exhibiting several of her miniatures and two portraits in the Schuyler Parsons Gallery exhibits at Aiken March 11-13.

At present Mrs. Fernow is painting portraits of Major and Mrs. R. F. Walthour, and during the Easter season will paint the famed Mezzo-contralto, Miss Fernanda Doria, as "Carmen."

About two or three weeks are required to complete one miniature, though Mrs. Fernow once made a record by painting two children in four days. Then, however, she had Professor Fernow along to help entertain the youngsters, she said. Within twelve sittings of an hour and a half each Mrs. Fernow can complete a full length portrait in three to four weeks. Her home is filled with her own beautiful and interesting works of art.

Mrs. Fernow said that she is not attending the exhibit, but sent

Ramsey Speaks At IRC Meet

The International Relations clubs of Clemson, Furman, and Woman's College met in a joint session at Clemson Tuesday, March 8.

The principal speaker, Major G. L. Ramsey, discussed the far Eastern situation.

Fifteen delegates from the two visiting schools attended this joint meeting, which was the first of a series to be held with various schools of South Carolina. The Clemson chapter will invite for each of its meetings throughout the remainder of the year or more of the fifteen other South Carolina clubs.

Leaders Organize Credit Union

A cooperative credit union designed to make emergency loans to members will be organized at Clemson, a number of community leaders decided this week.

Membership is open to any interested resident, and it is possible that student members will be admitted later.

Credit unions are being successfully operated throughout the nation, and the leaders say that one will have a large field in which to progress here.
